

May 8th marks the anniversary of VE day.

Look at the powerpoint to see what that is – see what you can find out about the day.

Create a fact file (2 page spread) about VE day including facts and pictures.

Create a paper aeroplane like a spitfire either using the print-out or simply using paper and colouring. Have a contest with your family to see whose plane goes furthest.

There is also a booklet of recipes included so you could try making some food too.

Finally, Lowry created some famous art of the VE day celebrations – he was famous for using stick men in his images (and he usually included himself too). His paintings only used a few colours and included the local buildings with people having street parties.

Here is his picture. Can you do your own version – include your family and maybe set it in Leicester.

Have fun finding out this important celebration – maybe you could put up bunting at home and your family could celebrate on the day too.
